REPAIR SHIP PANTHER AND TUG SONOMA SAFE

Both Vessels Arrive at Guantanamo, Cuba, and Report Terrific Battle With Storms.

Washington, Jan. 10.—Both the repair ship Panther and her attendant tug, the Sonoma, reported "safe in port" to the navy department.

Both vessels reached Guantanamo harbor under their own power, although both were considerably damaged by last Friday's storm, which had completely carried away the Panther's wireless and had torn off the Sonoma's superstructure and lifeboats. The Sonoma, which left Brooklyn two hours before the Panther, reached Guantanamo at one o'clock in the morning, while the Panther was not sighted until two o'clock in the afternoon.

Both Lieutenant Commander de Stiguer in charge of the repair ship and Chief Boatswain Darrington of the Sonoma paid high tribute to the heroism of their men, who rode the storm for 36 hours without rest and took turns at the pumps to prevent the water from extinguishing the boiler fires.

It is expected that both vessels will remain at Guantanamo until they have been overhauled and repaired as much as possible.

The Panther carried a cargo of iron machinery and parts for war vessels and the greater portion of this will probably be needed to refit the two ships. A complete report of the damage done to the vessels is expected here shortly.

Immediately on receipt of the news that the Panther had arrived safely Secretary of the Navy Meyer directed that telegrams be sent the relatives of the officers and men on board. This was done because the navy department had been swamped all day under a flood of telegrams and telephone messages begging for news of the missing vessels.

He endeavored to appease the government's monitor with the statement, "I am Assistant Secretary Allen."

PETTICOATS OUT

Soon To Be Discarded By Women Of Fashion--Three Garments Sufficient--Change Began Ten Years Ago.

New York, Jan. 16.—A bas underwear, petticoats, belts and stocks and dress linings

Enter the union suit, the corset and draped hobble front as the sole apparel of the 1913 woman of fashion. Empress Josephine of 1813 come to life again.

This is a startling innovation coming after so many startlers, but Max Aron, secretary of the Dressmakers, Union of America, and otherwise high in authority on women's dress, declares it is here.

"The woman of the future will find three garments sufficient," said Aron today. "Exclusive of shoes and stockings, she will wear a union suit, the lower part in the form of tights, a small corset of comparatively few bones, and she will wear a close fitting, one piece dress, with very slight or even no lining. Some women today are wearing only these three garments."

Mr. Aron went calmly on: "I believe that the underwear industry has fallen off 75 per cent. in the last three years. Lacy, ruffled lingerie is now a drug on the market. Underwear is dead."

"The change didn't come all at once. It began ten years ago. The flannel petticoat went first. The shirtwaist then struck the knell of dress lining. Then it was discovered that unlined skirts could be built. Seven years ago the one-piece dress suddenly came to the front. Then went belts and collars. When the hobble skirt came in three years ago the undershirt went out. Women soon stopped wearing three petticoats, then decided two was too many, and finally took to wearing tights. Everything is toward simplicity. Four dresses and a hat can now be bought for what one complete outfit once cost. Even the hats are untrammelled."

Well-Known Emotion.

Love was under discussion, and the time-old "When-is-a-Man-in-Love" question came up. "A man is in love," said one, "when it gives him physical pain to tear up the slightest of her notes." "When"—but it would be violating confidences to tell other answers. One only—the best—we begged leave to print. "A man isn't really in love," said this romantic astute old gentleman, "until he begins to skip the descriptions of heroines in novels he reads, saying, 'What's the use of reading that? I'll have her looking like her and talking like her anyway.'"

One might almost do an Elizabethan poem on that.—Franklin P. Adams, in Metropolitan.

Had Figured in History.

A notable character in the person of a woman, named Mary Hughes, died the other day at Solva, Wales. She was one hundred and six years old, and could not speak a word of English. One of 11 children, she had a brother who lived to be one hundred and three. Her mother took part in repelling the French in 1797, when a force of 1,500 landed in Cardigan bay, but was at once surrounded by the local militia, and surrendered.

She Expressed It.

"I never saw such outrageous service in all my life," said the woman at the express office window. "I've been waiting here fully half an hour and not a sign of an employee have I seen. The heads of this company ought to be notified of this extreme negligence. It's simply outrageous."

"What would you like to express, madam?" said a clerk who arrived at last.

"I'd like to express my sympathy," replied the woman tartly, and departed.

A COMMON ERROR

The Same Mistake Is Made By Many Cloverport People.

It's a common error
To plaster the aching back,
To rub with liniments, rheumatic joints,
If the trouble comes from the kidneys.

It's time to use Doan's Kidney Pills. Here is convincing proof of merit. Mrs. W. N. Bartlett, 620 Triplett St., Owensboro, Ky., says: "Several years ago I used Doan's Kidney Pills and cannot say too much in their praise. For a long time I had nearly every symptom of kidney disease. My back ached terribly at night and I did not sleep well. During the day I was nervous and in bed all the time. My feet became swollen and I knew that I required a good remedy to cure me. I had often heard Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended, so I procured a supply and began taking them as directed. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me and they are the only remedy that I will ever use for kidney trouble. I can highly recommend them, as they lived up to the claims made for them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.—Advertisement.
